IOGP has established health & safety regional expert group in Asia Pacific in late 2023. The mission of this group is to enhance health & safety communication with the oil and gas industry across the region through collaboration, knowledge sharing and promotion of best practices. This regional group aims to communicate IOGP health and safety recommended practices and provide region-specific feedback for the betterment of these recommended practices.

Please join our first regional health and safety webinar to hear more and take part in the discussions.
